EXHIBITOR OPPORTUNITIES

Invitation to Exhibit

The Organising Committee of the 22nd Symposium on Systems Analysis in Forest Resources (SSAFR2027) invites research institutions, universities, companies, NGOs, public agencies and other organisations to participate as exhibitors at this international event.

SSAFR2027 will bring together the international community working in forest inventory, forest modelling, forest management and planning, operations research, biodiversity conservation, ecosystem services and sustainable forest resource management.

Why Exhibit at SSAFR2027?

- Showcase your organisation and innovations in areas such as remote sensing, forest modelling, optimisation, forest management and planning, wildfire risk, biodiversity, ecosystem services, climate change and decision-support systems.
- Connect with an international audience of researchers, forest managers, policymakers, industry representatives, professionals and students.
- Increase your visibility among a specialised scientific and professional community.
- Develop new partnerships for collaboration, technology transfer, joint projects, business development and recruitment.
- Become part of the SSAFR and IUFRO networks and establish contacts within the global forest research and management community.

More than 100 participants from around the world are expected to attend SSAFR2027, providing an excellent platform for networking, knowledge exchange and institutional visibility.
